NATURE OF ACTION

1. Plaintiffs are current and former parking lot attendants of SP Payroll, Inc., Nicholas Parking, Corp., Ivy Parking, Corp., Bienvenido, LLC, Castle Parking Corp., and Sage Parking Corp. (collectively referred to as “Defendant Corporations”), and Sam Podolak (“Defendant Podolak”), who owns and operates Defendant Corporations.

5. Plaintiffs now bring this action for unpaid minimum wages and overtime wage orders pursuant to the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, 29 U.S.C. § 201 et seq. (“FLSA”), the New York Labor Law (“NYLL”) § 650 et seq., and the spread of hours and overtime wage orders of the New York Commissioner of Labor (the “spread of hours order” and “overtime wage order” respectively codified at 12 N.Y.C.R.R. § 142-2.2, 2.4.).

STATEMENT OF FACTS

Defendant Corporations Constitute Joint Employers

97. SP Payroll, Inc., Nicholas Parking, Corp., Ivy Parking, Corp., Bienvenido, LLC, Castle Parking Corp., and Sage Parking Corp. are shell corporations controlled by the same owner, or owner group, operating as a unified operation.

98. Defendant Corporations are associated and joint employers, utilizing Plaintiffs in a fungible and interchangeable manner as parking lot attendants between the parking lots operated by the Defendant Corporations.

99. Defendant Corporations share the same employees among them, act in the interest of each other with respect to employees, pay their employees by the same method and in the same amount, share control over the employees, and are themselves under common control.

100. Upon information and belief, Defendant Podolak is the ~~owner~~ and/or executive ~~director~~ of the Defendant Corporations.

Deleted: owners

Deleted: directors

101. At all relevant times, Defendant Podolak employed and/or jointly employed the Plaintiffs.

102. The gross annual volume of sales made or business done by Defendant Corporations, for each year in existence, was not less than $500,000 (exclusive of excise taxes at the retail level that are separately stated).

103. At all relevant times, Defendants were the Plaintiffs' employers within the meaning of the FLSA and New York Labor Law. Defendants had the power to hire and fire Plaintiffs, control their terms and conditions of employment, and determine the rate and method of any compensation in exchange for Plaintiffs' services.

Defendants' General Compensation and Employment Practices

104. At all times relevant to this action, Plaintiffs worked as attendants in parking lots owned and/or operated by Defendants. As such, Plaintiffs' work was involved with or related to the movement of goods for interstate commerce.

105. Defendants regularly required Plaintiffs to work in excess of forty (40) hours per week and more than ten (10) hours a day.

Deleted: without paying them the proper regular rate of pay, overtime wages, or spread of hour compensation

106. Defendants willfully disregarded and purposefully evaded recordkeeping requirements of the Fair Labor Standards Act and New York State Labor Law by failing to maintain ~~accurate~~ and complete timesheets or payroll records.

Deleted: proper

107. For example, Defendants usually paid the Plaintiffs with a combination of a check and cash.

108. Upon information and belief, this was done so to disguise the actual number of hours Plaintiffs worked, and to avoid paying Plaintiffs properly for (1) their full hours worked, (2) for any overtime due, and (3) for spread of hours pay.

109. Defendants paid Plaintiffs with a check and cash, which did not provide the Plaintiffs with an accurate accounting of daily hours worked and the total number of hours worked each week. Although Plaintiffs regularly worked between 60 to 72 hours per week, their pay checks only reflected an average of 55 hours per week. Defendants would pay an additional cash amount to the Plaintiffs. However, these cash payments also never accurately reflected the actual number of hours worked.

110. Plaintiffs could not leave the parking lot unattended and as a result, were required to work their entire 12-hour shift without receiving a meal break.

111. Defendants denied Plaintiffs time off for meals and breaks in violation of New York State Labor Law § 162.2. Plaintiffs received neither a thirty-minute break for lunch, nor an additional 20 minute break between 5 P.M. and 7 P.M. for those employed on a shift starting before 11 A.M. and continuing after 7 P.M.

112. Even though the Plaintiffs were denied their meal break, Defendants improperly deducted one hour for each day that the Plaintiffs worked from their paychecks.

113. At no time during the course of this action did Plaintiffs ever observe on Defendants' premises any posted notice regarding employees' rights under the Fair Labor Standards Act, New York State Labor Law and Regulations or the procedures for filing a charge for violations of these state and federal labor laws.

There are questions of law and fact common to the Class which predominate over any questions affecting only individual members. The claims of the representative parties are typical of the claims of the class.¶

FLSA COLLECTIVE ACTION CLAIMS

On information and belief, there are over 15 current and former employees that are similarly situated to Plaintiffs who have been denied minimum wage and overtime compensation while working for Defendants.

The named Plaintiffs are representative of these other parking lot attendants who work for Defendants and are acting on behalf of their interests as well as their own interest in bringing this action:

Similarly situated former and current employees are readily identifiable and locatable through Defendants' records. These similarly situated employees should be notified of and allowed to opt-in to this action, pursuant to 29 U.S.C. § 216(b). Unless the Court promptly issues such notice, persons similarly situated to Plaintiffs, who have been unlawfully deprived of minimum wage and overtime pay in violation of the Fair Labor Standards Act, will be unable to secure compensation to which they are entitled and which has been unlawfully withheld from them by Defendants.

FEDERAL RULE OF CIVIL PROCEDURE RULE 23 CLASS ALLEGATIONS

Plaintiffs sue on their own behalf and on behalf of a class of persons similarly situated under Rule 23(a), (b)(2) and (b)(3) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

Plaintiffs bring their New York Labor Law minimum wage, overtime, spread-of-hours, and liquidated damages claims on behalf of all persons who are or were employed by Defendants in the state of New York, on or after the date that is six years before the filing of the complaint in this case, August 2001, to entry of judgment in this case (the “New York Class Period”), as travel agency or money wire employees. All said persons, including Plaintiffs, are referred to herein as the “New York Class.”

The persons in the New York Class are so numerous that joinder of all members is impracticable. Although the precise number of such persons is unknown, and facts on which the calculation of that number are presently within the sole control of Defendants, there are approximately 100 members of the New York Class during the New York Class Period. There are questions of law and fact common to the Class which predominate over any questions affecting only individual members. The claims of the representative parties are typical of the claims of the class.

The representative parties will fairly and adequately protect the interests of the New York Class and have no interests antagonistic to the class. The Named Plaintiffs are represented by attorneys who are experienced and competent in both class action litigation and employment litigation.

A class action is superior to other available methods for the fair and efficient adjudication of the controversy, particularly in the context of wage and hour litigation where individual plaintiffs lack the financial resources to prosecute a lawsuit in federal court against corporate defendants vigorously. The damages suffered by individual class members are small, compared to the expense and burden of individual prosecution of this litigation. Class action treatment will obviate unduly duplicative litigation and the possibility of inconsistent judgments.

Defendants have acted or refused to act on grounds generally applicable to the class, thereby making appropriate final injunctive relief or corresponding declaratory relief with respect to the class as a whole.

The claims of Plaintiffs are typical of those of the class. Plaintiffs and the other class members were subjected to Defendants' policies, practices, programs, procedures, protocols and plans alleged herein concerning non-payment of overtime, non-payment of wages, and failure to keep required records. The job duties of the Named Plaintiffs were and are typical of those of class members.

There are questions of law and fact common to the New York Class which predominate over any questions solely affecting individual members of the Class, including:

what proof of hours worked is sufficient where Defendants fail in their duty to maintain time records;

what were the policies, practices, programs, procedures, protocols and plans of Defendants regarding payment of wages for all hours worked;

what were the policies, practices, programs, procedures, protocols and plans of Defendants regarding payment of at least minimum wages for all hours worked;

whether Defendants failed and/or refused to pay Plaintiffs the minimum wage and overtime at the premium rate within the meaning of the New York Labor Law;

whether Defendants failed and/or refused to pay Plaintiffs "Spread of Hours" Pay;

at what common rate, or rates subject to common methods of calculation, were and are Defendants required to pay the class members for their work; and common conditions of employment and in the workplace, such as recordkeeping, clock-in procedures, breaks, and policies and practices that affect whether the class was paid at overtime rates for minimum wage and overtime work.
